thecircuit

Benefits:

The IT Executive Circle allows you to develop a network of IT leaders that you can count on when you may have questions or need assistance. Hear from your peers and vetted experts in their fields on the latest topics in the industry.

An exclusive, secure e-mail list of IT Executive Circle members make the group available for questions that come up between sessions. This tool has proven quite helpful to many members to get feedback on who is implementing new technologies, what technology tools they have used.

IT Executive Circle members can post job openings to The Circuit website to recruit new talent (and can leverage IT Executive Circle members to vet individuals).

Each member is included in other "Invitation Only" activities for IT leaders such as quarterly events. Opportunity to join small groups for intimate conversations with peers.

IT Executive Circle

"The IT Executive Circle is a diverse group of technology leaders with a diverse set of backgrounds representing a diverse collection of local companies. I can't overstate the peace of mind that comes from exchanging ideas and experiences with these leaders, knowing that I'm getting the benefit of their collective experiences."
Steve Brunker - CEPO at Brain-CA

What They Say:

"The collective knowledge and expertise of the IT Executive Circle has been an invaluable resource in my work. The group has a strong culture of supportiveness where we learn from each other's experience in deploying specific technologies, providers and overall best practices. The programming is an efficient way to keep pace with the trends that will have a real effect on our businesses. Our region and organizations are far better off because of The Circuit & IT Executive Circle."
Chris Hickok - Home City Ice

The Vision:

The Circuit's IT Executive Circle is a problem solving, information sharing, technology based peer group that allows regional IT leaders to collaborate in a non-vendor environment. While discussing the latest technology and management issues, new tech-related products, or vendor evaluations, more than 50 members work to solve the pressing IT challenges facing your company.

ABOUT US:

The IT Executive Circle is compromised of high-level IT leaders of their organizations. They do not have to have the Executive title, but do need to be a key technology leader of their company.

CONTACT US :

Christy Berning
christy@thecircuit.net
859-240-3710